TEACHERS AND PUPILS:

Major changes were made in the teaching personnel at the beginning of the present school year. Warren E. Nye replaced Eugene Carver as Principal, vocal instructor and physical education director; Nancy Klingensmith replaced Margaret Downing as teacher of grades V and VI; Myrtle Nichols replaced Effie Winn as instructor of the piano.

Principal Nye is a graduate of Aroostook State Normal School, Aroostook, Maine, and has done advanced studying at the University of Maine and Plymouth Teachers College. He came to us with a background of seventeen years of successful teaching and coaching experience in Maine and New Hampshire.

Miss Klingensmith graduated from Pennsylvania State Teachers College and holds a B. S. degree in Education. She has a background of thirteen years of successful teaching experience in Maine, Vermont, Florida, and Pennsylvania, as well as in New Hampshire.

Mrs. Nichols graduated from the New England Conservatory of Music and has studied piano with Mms Marico Balling of New York, organ with the late William C. Heller, and with Douglas Rafter of Manchester, New Hampshire. She maintains a studio in Franklin.

BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS:

The long-range maintenance program continued as scheduled. Floors in the four classrooms were sanded and refinished, as was the upper hallway. This work progressed so rapidly that the Board decided to do more than was originally planned for the summer. Seats and desks were sanded and refinished and a scientifically planned color scheme of wall finishing was done. Also, all outside trim and woodwork was painted.

GENERAL INFORMATION:

Under the able administration of Mr. Nye, each pupil's daily program has been so arranged that, with few exceptions, no academic time is lost from classes while taking extra-curricula work, such as music, physical education, or craft work.

Principal Nye and his staff deserve well-earned words of praise for the efficient manner in which the school is progressing this year. "Perfection is attained only when perfection is demanded" seems to be their commendable philosophy.

This type of work warrants the wholehearted support of parents as well as of all other citizens in the community. That this support is forthcoming is apparent by the activities of a few alert citizens in forming the recently organized "Citizens Committee to Study the Public School". One of the major objectives of this group is "To create a better understanding between the community and the school". This is most commendable. The school is your school. You should visit it frequently, discuss any school problems with the staff, and thereby understand these problems at an adult level, rather than to perhaps misinterpret reports innocently brought home by the pupil, who, being a child, understands as a child.

CONCLUSION:

May I take you for a moment, as a concluding thought for this report, to look outside our district borders and view four specific tasks which triumphant faith in education has imposed on our schools during the past 150 years, as expressed by H. Commager of Columbia University. THE FIRST AND GREATEST TASK was to provide an enlightened citizenry in order that self government might work. With independence the problem of self-government became urgent. "To be long-lived," as Benjamin Rush observed, "republics must invest in education."

Has our investment succeeded? None can doubt that it has. Americans have, in short, made democracy work. Through all their history they elected some mediocre presidents but never a wicked or a dangerous one; they revealed in every crisis an ability to select able leaders. Only a people taught self-government could record these achievements.

THE SECOND GREAT TASK imposed upon education and on the schools — the creation of national unity — was equally difficult.

We created unity out of diversity, nationalism out of particularism. These were the contribution of poets and novelists, editors and naturalists, historians and jurists, orators and painters — and the medium through which they worked was the school. These men gave to Americans, old and new alike, a people's common language with which to voice a people's common heritage:

“God sifted a whole nation that He might send choice grain over into this wilderness; As for me, give me liberty or give me death; If they mean to have a war, let it begin here; One if by land, and two if by sea; These are the times that try men's souls; I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country.”

And then there were the songs and the pictures, too. In school and lyceum, children came to learn and remember at least snatches of the “Concord Hymn” or “Old Ironsides” or the “Midnight Ride of Paul Revere.”

THE THIRD TASK IMPOSED ON EDUCATION, and particularly on the public schools, was that which we call Americanization. Each decade after 1840 saw from two to eight million immigrants pour into America.

THERE IS A FOURTH AND FINAL SERVICE the schools have rendered the cause of American democracy. This most heterogeneous of modern societies has ever seemed the most easy prey to forces of riotous privilege and ruinous division. These forces have not prevailed; they have been routed, above all, in the schoolrooms and on the playgrounds of America. In the classroom, the nation's children have lived and learned equality. On the playground and the athletic field, the same code has ruled. Who can seriously doubt that the cause of democracy is served when it is a Murphy, a Schwartz, a Groglio or a Levitsky that the cheering stands applaud? If through the 19th and well into the 20th Century, American schools performed such magnificent service, the question remains: do they still serve the nation well?

In a day of specialization schools are called on more and more to prepare not so much for life, citizenship or democracy as for particular tasks and competences.

Schools reflect the society they serve. Many of the failures we ascribe to contemporary education are in fact failures of our society as a whole.

For a century and a half American schools have served and strengthened the commonwealth. If society clearly defines the new duties it wishes our schools to fulfill and if it steadfastly supports them not only with money but also with faith, they will surely justify that faith in the future as they have in the past.

The acknowledgement of my appreciation to the teachers; to the school board, collectively and individually; as well as to the citizens of the district, for their continued cooperation and support is hereby gratefully expressed.

Respectfully submitted,

PHIL A. BENNETT
